(a) (b) (c)

The diagram illustrates three scenarios of musical performance compared to a score. The 'score' staff shows a sequence of notes: a quarter note, two eighth notes, a quarter note, and two eighth notes. The 'played' staff shows the actual performance. In scenario (a), the first two eighth notes are enclosed in a dashed box labeled 'inserted'. In scenario (b), the first quarter note is enclosed in a solid blue box labeled 'extra', and the first two eighth notes are enclosed in a dashed box. In scenario (c), the first quarter note is enclosed in a solid blue box labeled 'extra', and the last two eighth notes are enclosed in a dashed box. The labels 'missed' are placed above the two eighth notes in the score staff, which are enclosed in orange boxes.
